The Signing Time Program brings the benefits of ASL to children of all ages and abilities. Children who know sign language show increased communication skills during the toddler years, therefore are less frustrated, and have fewer tantrums. Signing with school age children promotes increased language and social skills. Signing Time is a “mommy and me” style program that incorporates sign language, music and crafts into a classic story time program children already know and love. So, warm up those fingers and let’s sign! This program is open to both residents and non-residents.
